World Mission Sunday 2023

Today is World Mission Sunday. We celebrate this day by remembering our baptismal call— to bring the Gospel to all! The collection today for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith supports the work and service of the mission Church, as it provides for priests, religious, and lay leaders who offer the Lord's mercy and concrete help to the most vulnerable communities in the Pope's missions. Thank you for your generosity.

In my reflection last week on the violence in the Holy Land, and society in general, I mentioned several times that it was connected to the misuse of human freedom. We see that in the very first pages of the Bible with Adam and Eve, and then with Cain and Abel. Bringing evil into the world does not require regular, consistent misuse of human freedom. Sadly, the good from multiple acts of kindness can be negated with one selfish action. The damage inflicted upon people in doing so can last for years and sometimes even a lifetime. As a result, man's greatest responsibility is the proper use of his or her freedom.

It's worth considering at which point human freedom because improper. For example, is it a misuse of freedom to not wear a seatbelt when traveling in a vehicle? State law says yes, however, those who argue to the contrary appeal to personal freedom: It's my body and I should be able to do with it as I wish. The thinking is that the bodily damage that I receive in an accident, on account of not wearing a seatbelt, does not cause bodily harm to others. Therefore, me not wearing a seat belt should be a personal choice.

State law sees it differently. It says you may not be concerned with dying or severe bodily injury to yourself in an accident, however there are other factors to consider, such as the medical cost of treating injuries that the rest of society must finance and the negative publicity of traffic deaths. As a result, state law considers wearing seat belts to be a commonsense law.

Another example to consider of the improper use of human freedom is walking naked on public streets. Those who advocate for doing so contend that they are not physically harming anyone and therefore should be able to do with their body as they wish. State law recognizes there are other forms of harm, especially to children.

In both of these situations, the state identifies such use of freedom as improper and therefore illegal. It does so by examining the secondary and long-term effects of each action. The state doesn't surrender investigation and evaluation when confronted with the assertion that it is my body and I should be able to deal with it as I want. So, we have to ask ourselves why it is different with the issue of abortion. It seems on that most basic issue there is willful mass ignorance. Suddenly people are not able to make proper evaluations and to see it for what it is, the ending of the life of another person.

It's a complete fallacy to morally justify abortion by saying it's my body and I should be able to do with it as I want. The state will not let us drive without a seatbelt, but it will let us kill the innocent among us still in their mother's womb? This is so illogical that we must conclude it is the work of the devil. How else can we justify such willful blindness?

From the Director of Strategic Initiatives

It's hard to believe that already St. Peter's School is closing out the first quarter. Whether snapping photos of our students of the month, our middle school Spartan MVPs, or our elementary principals of the day, I am seeing the ways in which our students are living up to our expectations—academically, physically, spiritually, and socially.

In this first quarter, I've had the honor of addressing our nine new National Honor Society members, inducted for their academic excellence, character, service, and leadership; served hot dogs to middle school students being recognized at the rectory for their achievements in the classroom; and met with seniors on the precipice of that exciting and somewhat terrifying next step in their journey.

Outside of the classroom, students are pushing themselves athletically. Our elementary soccer players headed into tournaments, several with undefeated seasons, and our U12 Boys team won the championship. Our cross country runners celebrated several PRs over Friday pasta nights and middle school student Lily Richlovsky won the MBC Championship for junior high girls cross country. Our middle school volleyball team benefitted from the training provided by our seniors, and our golf teams represented us well from middle through high school.

Spiritually, I've seen students gather at the peace pole for prayer, seek out Father Kevin during his office hours, inquire about becoming part of the church, desire to become servers, raise their voice in the chapel, depart the bus from Damascus with a renewed sense or purpose, all searching for a deeper connection with Christ.

Still recovering from the isolation of the pandemic, I've witnessed the social and emotional growth of our students—the huddles on the playground in support of the student who has fallen, the groups who show up in the office to support the one they feel has been wronged, the dance floor filled with students with arms slung over one another's shoulders, and the cheers from the sidelines for the Spartan who is competing have all shown me that our kids are learning how to be together again.

Personally, I've crowned our Enchanted Forest King, Queen, and court, who were recognized by their peers as role models and leaders within their grades; listened each week to our middle schoolers cheer for those who were picked to have the privilege of the MVP room; stood in the hallways as our elementary students thoughtfully discussed a topic in class; and have been the recipient of many sticky-handed hugs from our youngest Spartans, thriving in and enjoying their very first year of school.

As we enter quarter two, I look forward to seeing the continued growth of our students as we all strive to create a culture of excellence.

Leading the FLOCK

BY BISHOP DANIEL E. THOMAS

Our Civic and Moral Duty

To be a voice in the public square during these days when voting is taking place on Issue 1, I recently presented an Op-Ed, "What is the Issue?," to the secular press, which I present to you in this column. You will note that it intentionally does not use Catholic language, no scripture quotes, no Catechism or Papal references. Why? Because today being today, the public often rejects outright anything which even hints of religion. Instead, the article is an appeal to reason! To assist you and those with whom you will interact, I want to provide this reasoned approach to a thoroughly unreasonable amendment.

As Catholics, protecting, defending, nurturing and caring for all human life is a moral imperative. But the life of the most innocent, the most vulnerable, the most defenseless among us, the unborn baby in the womb, must be our preeminent concern. Issue 1 will take abortion to an unprecedented level, enshrining in our State Constitution the "right" to take the life of a baby, even one about to born!

"What is the Issue?"

"In these weeks and on November 7th, we will have the opportunity and responsibility as good citizens to cast a vote on Issue 1, a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Ohio. At first glance, some believe that the issue is only about keeping abortion legal, when in fact abortion is already legal in the State of Ohio, up to fetal viability. This amendment, however, seeks to make abortion, in its most radical form, a right enshrined in our Constitution, in direct contradiction to the Declaration of Independence, which holds as a self-evident truth that all are endowed with the first unalienable right: the right to life. So abortion, in the end, is not the issue. Then what is?

Some will say it is a political issue. But this is not an issue of partisan politics, and we are not being asked to elect one candidate as opposed to another. This is not a democratic or republican issue; it is not an independent or green issue. Then what is it?

Some will say it is a religious issue. But this is not an issue of religious affiliation, and not the sole concern of one religion as opposed to another. This is not a Catholic or Evangelical issue; it is not a Muslim or Jewish issue. Then what is it?

Some will say it is an individual issue. But this is not an issue affecting only one person or concerning only certain members of our society. This is not a "my" issue or a "your" issue; it is not a liberal or conservative issue. Then what is it?

So what is the issue? Simply put, it is a human issue! The proposed amendment should compel all persons of goodwill who are committed to human rights, to human development, to human flourishing, to human protections and to human goodness, to vote no for one reason: the amendment is inhuman.

Inhuman because it rejects and disrespects the rights of women and girls of Ohio, inhuman because it rejects and disrespects the rights of parents, inhuman because it rejects and disrespects the rights of the baby about to be born.

When one reads the language of the amendment, one understands that the issue, in the end, is not the legality of abortion, but human rights. There is a reason that the language of the amendment never mentions familiar human language: woman, girl, mother, father, parent, child, baby. There is a reason the crafters of the amendment language were enraged when more human language was included in the final version of the ballot. I invite you to read the language of the amendment itself, and seriously to consider what the language really means here: www.toledodiocese.org/voteno.

Read the language and read between the lines! Make no mistake, the proposed amendment would not only enshrine abortion into the Ohio Constitution, but take it to its furthest extreme by placing women and girls at risk in an unregulated abortion environment, by undermining the rights of parents to know if their young children are being counseled, encouraged and assisted in having abortions or receiving life changing hormonal treatments against their will, and by permitting late term abortions through nine months of pregnancy, even up until birth!

How telling to note that as humans, we delight in the announcement of the zoo that an animal mother is pregnant, we anxiously await the birth of her babies, even name them before they are born, and mourn them if they are lost! How telling to note that in a great many schools in the State of Ohio, parents or guardians must give permission for their minor children to receive even an aspirin; and according to Ohio law, they must sign a minor child's application for a driver's license or permit, they must give consent for their minor child to have their ears pierced or to get a tattoo. According to the proposed amendment, however, a minor could have a life altering surgical procedure without the consent of parents!

So what is the issue? Issue 1 is not a political issue, it is not a religious issue, it is not an individual issue. In the end, Issue 1 is a human issue that affects all persons and our entire community, regardless of political or religious affiliations.

As human persons, we are created good, we are made for good and made to do good. I encourage all people of goodwill to exercise their right to vote, to defend human rights, and to vote no on Issue 1 in accord with our human nature!"

In closing, dear friends, you've heard me say and I say it again: to be Catholic is to be Pro-Life, from conception to natural death. The amendment on which we are being asked to vote is nothing short of evil. I urge you to exercise your civic duty to vote, and I urge you to fulfill your moral duty to vote NO on Issue 1.
